If you think the best of Sweden comes from Ikea, guess again. Since 1985 Swedish born Erik H. Rhodin, Principal of Line Company Architects, has been making his homeland proud. For over 20 years, Line Company Architects has made its mark throughout New England providing full service architecture and planning to both commercial and residential projects. Being Erik Rhodin is a registered architect in Sweden, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and Maine, it is no surprise that Line Company Architects has completed work in schools, institutions, public buildings, condo developments and for lucky homeowners, private residences. To add to Line Company's impressive list of accomplishments, while in Finland and Sweden Rhodin completed a government complex in Kuwait, elderly assisted and independent living facilities, a private school with a sports complex as well as two historic church renovations with additions and a rectory. Given Erik's resume, it would seem as if no job is too large making Line Company Architects the natural choice for an upcoming project where they will turn an existing church into 7 high end condos that according to Rhodin "will be fabulous spaces." Aside from Line Companies unquestionable skill, they must be a pleasure to work with as it seems the builders just keep coming back for more. Both Line Company's present project as well as the mentioned church renovation will be done in conjunction with Karnig Ostayan of Phoenix Construction Group Inc. "I like to work with Karnig because he is able to run with conceptual ideas very easily. We don't have to hold his hand to generate a fine product. We'll give him some conceptual ideas and floor plans but knowing his caliber, we can create an excellent product." Not only does Line Company maintain functioning relationships with other builders and architects but alongside Erik Rhodin sits his wife, Taina, who Erik credits for much of Line Company's recent developments. As a team, there is nothing they can not do, offering everything one could want from an architectural firm.

Congratulations Phoenix Construction Group Inc and Real Acquisitions Development

"At Line Company we give you the full range. We do in house, the architecture itself, bring in sub contractors and even serve as consultants for the mechanical, electrical, plumbing and construction." Seeming to do it all, Rhodin also has another successful business, Scanhouse Inc., that provides affordable high quality factory crafted panel products from Sweden, which he runs with Bob Fraser and Olaf Christiansen. As a multi-talented powerhouse Rhodin never misses attention to detail doing all of his presentations and drawings by hand or with watercolor.

It is easy to see why we thank Rhodin for staying in the States even without mentioning his many awards for housing, office buildings, a maritime museum, as well as photography, ceramics and watercolors; and know that as long as Line Company Architects and Erik Rhodin is around, architecture will continue to be far from ordinary. ■ EW
